Half a Century Ago

Half a Century Ago every community could be supplied to some extent with locally dressed meat, drawing on live stock raised nearby.

Now two-thirds of the consuming centers, with millions of people, are one to two thousand miles away from the principal live-stock producing sections, which are sparsely settled.

The American meat packing industry of today is the development of the best way to perform a national service.

The function of providing meat had to develop accordingly. Those men who first grasped the elements of the changing problem created the best facilities to meet itlarge packing plants and branch houses at strategic points, refrigerating equipment (including cars), car routes, trained organization, profitable outlets for former wastewhich became the natural, inevitable channels for the vast flow of meat across the country.

If there were a better way to perform this necessary service, American ingenuity and enterprise would have discovered it, and others would now be using it.

During 1918, Swift & Company has earned a profit on meats (and meat by-products) of less than 21/2 cents per dollar of sales-too small a profit to have any appreciable effect on prices.

How I Made Jim Like Spinach

That's something I thought I could never, never do. Jim simply would not eat spinach. But one day, when I was at my wit's end be-cause I had served nearly every other vegetable in captivity that week, I made up my mind I was going to make him eat spinachwhat's more, I was going to make him like it, too!

You see, by this time I'm wise enough to know that the reason folks don't like certain things to eat is that they aren't cooked rightso I set to work to cook spinach in a way that I knew even Jim couldn't resist. The secret is A1 SAUCE. He would eat nails I think, if they were flavored with that sauce! This is how I did it, in case you want to try it on your Jim!

I washed the spinach well, put it in a covered kettle and cooked it with a tablespoonful of bacon fat until it was tender. Then I chopped it fine, and seasoned it with salt pepper and a generous tablespoonful of that magic A1 SAUCE, and garnished with slices of hard-boiled

Well, I wish you could have heard Jim ask for a second portion. That A1 SAUCE is certainly one big blessing for me!

In Memoriam.

Two years today, dear James, I saw you laid to rest: God thought it best to take you home He knew you needed rest.

Thoughts of thee, our dearest brother.
Have often come to us and mother,
That when this life of toil is o'er
We'll meet thee on the other shore,
Singing praises with the blest,
Rest on, dearest brother: rest, sweet rest.
BY HIS SISTERS. uneral service Sunday, December 22, at 2 p.m., Church of Our Redeemer, Lutheran, 8th street near Barry place, Rev. D. E. Wiseman, D. D., pastor.
